

"Religion &": Center Conversations on the State of Religion and the Current Moment

Religion & the 2020 U.S. Election

Religion and politics are intimately intertwined in American civic life, especially when it comes to presidential elections. In this “Religion &” panel, we’ll unpack the 2020 Election focusing on questions like: What role did religion play in the U.S. election? Which candidates and campaigns reflected religious themes? How did religious Americans vote? Join social science and humanities scholars for a conversation about election results and the aftermath.

When: November 19, 2020

3:00pm-4:00pm (Eastern)

Where: Zoom Webinar

Register here:

<https://go.iu.edu/3pgj>

Panelists:

Jamil W. Drake, Florida State University

Janelle Wong, University of Maryland

Co-Hosts:

Amanda Friesen, IUPUI

Andrew L. Whitehead, IUPUI